Comment: Reducing the number of VE will just make it harder to conduct the tests. Right now, a Extra can test everyone. Even and Extra. But if you are a General and a VE you can only test Tech's. You should be able to test up to the license you hold. So reducing the number to 2 could set up the possibility that you can test any Generals or extras at a VE session if you only get 2 General VE to show up.

As far as giving life credit for exams passed I'm against that also. Your license is good for 10 yrs. You get a 2yr grace period to renew. If you can't get it renewed in that time period you don't deserve to keep it and should have to test over.
